Specialized Certification in Family Education

Advanced Certification in Family Education

In a changing world with great family challenges, this Certification will give you valuable resources to promote general family well-being and mental health. The important topics that will be presented in this program will result as a great blessing in the work they do: Pastors, teachers, home and family leaders, singles ministry directors, youth leaders, church board members, professionals in the field of mental health, as well as people interested in understanding and managing family dynamics and some of their complexities.

This Specialized Certification addresses a broad content, with a scientific, practical and Christ-centric approach. Its themes include such relevant areas as: Theological Foundations of Family Education, Principles for Character Development, Family Sexual Education, Financial Education at home, Prevention of Child Abuse and Child Molesting, Impact of Mental Hygiene on Family Education and Effective Family Leadership.

Those who complete this certification will be able to claim two Andrews University Master's level credits, if they already have a bachelor's or bachelor's degree. Upon graduation from this program, students will not be able to offer professional counseling or charge for such services, unless authorized to do so. However, the participant will be prepared to better support his or her own family and provide more effective service in his or her church and community.
